Before we begin trialling your product, we need to know what it is and that you've taken steps toward commercialising your invention. There's no point trialling a product if there's no business plan standing behind it. The following are some key areas that should be considered before going forward.

[ Living Lab Logo]

Living Lab
A modern, open-source web application for environmental monitoring and testing. It provides a user-friendly interface for tracking various environmental parameters such as temperature, humidity, light levels, and more. The platform is designed to be flexible and scalable, allowing users to easily add new sensors and customize their monitoring needs. Whether you're a researcher, a hobbyist, or a professional in the field, Living Lab offers a powerful tool for environmental data collection and analysis.
